Clarification on Announcement Boppl partners with world-leading ePOS provider

- Boppl partnership with Epos Now.
- Epos Now has over 10,000 venues in the UK and is one of the fastest growing EPOS providers globally.

Yonder & Beyond (YNB) is pleased to announce Boppl, the mobile ordering and payment application in which it holds a 72% interest, has entered into a significant partnership with Epos Now, one of the fastest growing business in the UK. Epos Now has over 10,000 venues in the UK and has recently expanded its operations into the USA.

Epos Now, an unrelated party to the company, joins Boppl's global integration strategy, helping hospitality venues, groups and chains own the shift to mobile ordering and 'on-demand' services.

The partnership will provide integration for Boppl into all Epos Now venues, allowing orders that are placed through Boppl to appear on a venue's Epos Now system.

The partnership will immediately commence with Epos Now venues in the UK, and will expand to the USA in the coming months. Epos Now is actively marketing Boppl to its POS venues through its website and sales network. Boppl provides a value added service to the Epos Now product offering and Epos Now shall act as a reseller of Boppl products to its Venues.

Epos Now CEO, Jacyn Heavens said, "By unlocking the power of our smartphones Boppl eliminates wait times, whilst giving innovative ways to pay. We are are proud to be able to offer this must-have application to thousands of our hospitality customers."

Boppl and Yonder & Beyond have commenced a targeted social media campaign, in conjunction with Epos Now, to engage both venues and customers.

Boppl CEO, Angus McLachlan said, "We're excited to partner with Epos Now to enable mobile discovery, ordering and payment to over 10,000 venues, further extending our global reach. Designed to help hospitality venues own the shift to mobile, the partnership will eliminate lost time inputting orders, payment error and miscommunication.

"We are offering venues a new mobile ordering platform, without new hardware.

"Our team across Australia and the UK worked closely with the team at Epos Now, producing a seamless integration where the venue is always in control."

Popular London-based Epos Now venue Whaam Banh Mi has been using Boppl prior to the execution of this partnership. The successful implementation of Boppl at Whaam Banh Mi provided a demonstration of the Epos Now and Boppl software working together and helped pave the way for the partnership. Whaam Banh Mi praised Boppl's technology, stating that, "Having enjoyed using an Epos Now iPad system for 6 months I was approached by Boppl to help promote my business. I was a little skeptical about how fluid the integration of Boppl and my till system would be but sure to their word, it is really easy to use! It is like Amazon - simplicity of payments with food."

Since introducing Boppl, Whaam Banh Mi has seen an increase in orders through the application.

Yonder & Beyond CEO, Shashi Fernando said, "This is a huge step for Boppl, heading into the new year with the potential to be in thousands of venues is a game changer and the team should be credited with securing such a key partnership."

In addition to the partnership with Epos Now, Boppl has strategic partnerships with other EPOS providers Kounta, iKentoo and Omnivore. These partnerships further validate Boppl as a leading mobile payment application.

ePOS stands for "Electronic Point of Sale" it is essentially an electronic cash register. It is the point at which customers make payment in exchange for goods or provision of services.

Each Epos Now venue that takes on Boppl will pay a monthly fee to use the Boppl software. As the partnership has only just started and is in its infancy it is uncertain as to the conversion rate of Epos Now venues to add on Boppl software, so the extent to which this relationship will affect the future earnings of YNB at this early stage of the relationship is not known.
